Todah Rabbah

As we complete our year of transition, we enter into our first year of transformation. I would like to dedicate this article to the quality of gratitude - for where we are in our lives, who we have become, and for all the moments that we have shared. You may be familiar with the following story, perhaps an urban legend, about the famous violinist, Itzhak Perlman. One evening, Perlman was in New York to give a concert. As a child, he had been stricken with polio and getting on stage is no small feat for him. He wears braces on both legs and walks with two crutches. Perlman crossed the stage painfully slowly, until he reached the chair in which he seated himself to play.

As soon as he appeared on stage that night, the audience applauded and then waited respectfully as he made his way slowly across the stage. He took his seat, signaled to the conductor, and began to play. No sooner had he finished the first few bars than one of the strings on his violin snapped with a report like gunshot. At that point Perlman was close enough to the beginning of the piece that it would have been reasonable to bring the concert to a halt while he replaced the string to begin again. But that's not what he did. He waited a moment and then signaled the conductor to pick up just where they had left off.

Perlman now had only three strings with which to play his soloist part. He was able to find some of the missing notes on adjoining strings, but where that wasn't possible, he had to rearrange the music on the spot in his head so that it all still held together.

He played with passion and artistry, spontaneously rearranging the symphony right through to the end. When he finally rested his bow, the audience sat for a moment in stunned silence. And then they rose to their feet and cheered wildly. They knew they had been witness to an extraordinary display of human skill and ingenuity.

Perlman raised his bow to signal for quiet. "You know," he said, "sometimes it is the artist's task to find out how much beautiful music you can still make with what you have left."

We have to wonder, was he speaking of his violin strings or his crippled body? And is it true only for artists? We are all lacking something, and so we are all challenged to answer the question: Do we have the attitude of making something of beauty out of what we do have, incomplete as it may be?

The Hebrew term for gratitude is hikarat hatov, which means, literally,

The mission of Temple Beth David is to provide an environment where the concepts of community prayer, education, and service to the greater Jewish community are provided within the context of Conservative Judaism. We pride ourselves on being a friendly, participatory, egalitarian community, welcoming all to be a part of our synagogue family.

News from the President

Martin Presberg, President

The rabbi selection committee began its work wondering if we would be able to find anyone who was interested in coming to Rochester, NY to serve as a rabbi.

As it turns out, there was a candidate who was not only interested, but passionate about coming here and helping us to set about writing the next chapter in our development.

Now that Rabbi Berg has been here for a while, I am quite impressed with her energy and commitment. She seems to be everywhere and to want to do everything she can to make this community stronger, smarter and more committed -- committed to Judaism and committed to each other.

Her first year has by no means been easy, but her energy and desire have not wavered. We have significant work ahead as we face challenging demography, geography, and economics, but I have no doubt that Rabbi Berg will continue to be as involved, as helpful, and as supportive as she can. I look forward to working with her and with all of you.

Come to Shabbat morning services: The sermons are stimulating, the singing is inspiring, and, one of our most important assets, our community of members, is joyous and caring. If not Shabbat morning, consider Friday evening services or Sunday morning minyan. We can enjoy our time together, strengthen our congregation, and serve the community.

Let's continue to work together as a community.... amazing things will happen.

Rosh Hashanah Packages for Jewish Soldiers

This High Holiday season, the members of the Jewish community in Rochester have the opportunity to help our brothers and sisters serving our nation in Iraq and Afghanistan celebrate the holiday by sending Rosh Hashanah care packages. We are seeking donations to cover the cost of sending the packages to these brave men and women.

For the third year, the members of Temple Beth David will be sending Rosh Hashanah care packages to Jewish service members around the world. The care packages will contain: challah, honey cakes (baked and donated by the Temple sisterhood), grape juice, dried apples and other treats.

During Pesach, 50 care packages were sent from Rochester to Jewish Chaplains or lay leaders to benefit large communities of Jewish soldiers. Earlier in the year, Temple Beth David had sent over 100 Hamantaschen to Jewish service members in Iraq and Afghanistan in celebration of the holiday of Purim. This project would not have been possible without the generous donation of many of the Hamantaschen by the Temple Beth David Sisterhood which had baked the cookies.

These projects are just the latest in a series of efforts by Temple Beth David in support of Jews serving our nation overseas. Care packages were also sent for Shavous and Hanukkah. In addition to Holiday care packages, Temple Beth David facilitated the donation of new prayer books to Jewish sailors serving on the USS Abraham Lincoln (an aircraft carrier involved in the Iraq War) in time for Rosh Hashanah in 2008.

If you would like to contribute to this worthy project, please send a check made payable to Temple Beth David (note "Soldier's Rosh Hashanah Project" on the memo line) to Temple Beth David, 3200 St Paul Blvd, Rochester, NY 14614.

Please send your donation by Monday, 8/16/2010.

The Temple and the IHSC wish to acknowledge: Keith Freedman for coordinating all these projects, as well as Rabbi Aviva Berg for her support and guidance, and the Temple Beth David Sisterhood for the baking and donating the honey cakes.

"recognizing the good." Practicing gratitude means recognizing the good that is already ours.

As a community, we are an inter-generational reservoir of creative spirituality. Our worship space and membership permit us to offer meaningful prayer, engaged learning, and a caring and sharing community -- where every person who enters our doors is treasured and respected. This is something to be grateful for.

If, for you, prayer is the song of the heart, our beautiful worship services can fulfill the yearnings of our soul. By singing with our Cantor, Sam Asher, and the members of our congregation, I've been able to reach levels of spiritual intensity I had previously only read about in Abraham Joshua Heschel's writings. This is something to be grateful for.

In our new Temple Beth David Hebrew School, guided by Principal Marcy Berger, our children receive the individual attention they need to become literate, knowledgeable, and compassionate Jews who will grow to love Judaism through experiencing joy in the values of Jewish living. It is not unusual to hear parents who did not enjoy their own Jewish educational experience express delight in witnessing their children's experience in our Religious School. This is something to be grateful for.

Jewish history is often portrayed through the lens of our catastrophes. What has made our tradition transformative is not our losses, but the cultural, religious, and social flowering that has been our people response to tragedy. In each of the 13 months of the Jewish calendar beginning Tishrei (when we celebrate the High Holidays), we will immerse ourselves in a different culture, studying the thought of its leading minds, enjoying its artistic contributions, and, of course, consuming its food, (at Kiddush). This legacy and journey of discovery is something to be grateful for.

When Leah, wife of the patriarch Jacob, had her fourth child, she named him "Yehudah," which means, "I am grateful," to reflect her gratitude to God for the gift of another son. The name Yehudah is the source of the Hebrew name of the Jewish people (Yehudim), revealing the very direct tie between Judaism and gratitude.

It is an established Jewish practice to recite 100 such blessings a day. The term for "blessing" in Hebrew is bracha, which comes from the same root as the Hebrew word for "knee." When we say a blessing, it is as if we have bent our knees in an act of gratitude. The habit of saying blessings can remind us to be thankful when we get the go signal of a green light, or the salad is fresh, or our children came home from school as usual.

We are overwhelmed with gratitude by the blessings you have brought into Arthur's and my lives -- to the lovely woman who planted a tomato garden for us, to the people who maintain our home, and to all of you who supported our community, in small and large ways. These are things to be very grateful for.

What Is Appropriate Dress for Temple?

In keeping with the tradition of Kvod HsShabbat (Honoring the Sabbath) the standard of dress at Temple Beth David requires that Shabbat and Holiday dress for all participant be modest and dignified. We cannot give honors to anyone whose attire is not in keeping with this standard.

So what is NOT considered modest and dignified enough? Jeans, t-shirts, bare shoulders, midriffs and backs, and short, tight and revealing clothes of all kinds. Women are welcome to wear dressy pants if they like.

Everyone going on the bimah for an aliyah MUST wear a head covering. Men must wear a tallit; women are welcome to wear one if they wish. Please use the side stairs to approach and leave the bimah.

High Holy Days Learning Offerings

Rosh Chodesh Elul (August 11, 2010) 7:00 - 9:00 pm at Temple Beth David with Rabbi Berg: "Discover your Journey of Transformation" - Share insights, resources, and techniques to enable you to begin to craft your personal journey of transformation during Elul (the Hebrew month preceding the High Holidays).

Workshops and private instruction will be scheduled according to your individual spiritual needs during the 29 days of Elul leading up to the High Holidays. Offerings may include:

Literacy in Prayer: Individual and group instruction will be designed to enable you to understand, recite, and derive meaning from the central prayers of our Tradition. By learning specific techniques, you will achieve literacy in prayer that will help to unlock their meaning and transformative power.

Guided Meditation Techniques: Guidance on forming meditation groups and developing visualization techniques will be provided to enable you to increase your ability to focus and enrich your experience of the High Holiday worship services, particularly Yizkor, and Ne'ilah.

Study and Journaling: A plan of daily study and journaling can provide a means of self-analysis to enable you to unearth patterns of thinking and responses that may be blocking your personal spiritual growth. A personal plan will be developed for you depending on where you are on your journey.

You are invited to contact Rabbi Berg @rabbiavivaberg@gmail.com to schedule a personal meeting for your spiritual development or to include an additional topic for discussion for August 11, 2010.

High Holiday Tickets

For your children at the Holidays

Children's Services will be available on Rosh Hashanah (First Day Only) and Yom Kippur. There will be a Pre-School Service for ages 3-5 and a School Age Service for ages 6-12. All children are welcome and are encouraged to participate.

Babysitting will be held in the Sisterhood Room again this year. The Sisterhood Room is located on the Hebrew School level of the Temple. We provide babysitting each year so your young children will have a fun, safe place to be while you have a period of uninterrupted time to pray. Dates and times will appear in the next bulletin, but we plan to provide babysitting for both days of Rosh Hashanah as well Yom Kippur.

Details will follow in next month's High Holiday bulletin.

HIGH HOLIDAY SECURITY REMINDER

Security personnel will ask you to present your High Holiday tickets and picture ID when you arrive for High Holiday Services. Please be sure to bring your ticket and ID. This is for the safety and security of everyone attending services.

A funny thing happened on the way to the forum...

As a member of the membership committee, I want to share our ideas and hear yours. I would like to suggest that we have a forum the Bulletin for member contributions.

Besides updating us on happenings within our synagogue, the Bulletin is another way of keeping our sense of community -- kehilah. A forum space in the Bulletin will allow us to hear about the interests and opinions of our members. And, when our website is updated, a forum or "weblog" could be set up there too.

My recommendation for the forum is that it serve as a springboard to improve our synagogue on multiple levels -- anything that makes us closer, stronger, more spiritual, diverse, etc. The forum --whether in the Bulletin or as part of a blog -- would not be a place to express grievances or participate in lashon hara.

If you suggest an idea that you are passionate about, consider leading it or presenting it for further discussion. If all of us give a little, an activity changes from a burden to a mitzvah.

Considering this, I would like to tell you what the membership and marketing committees are doing and who we are. Pam Rosen, Paula Popper, and myself are the Membership Committee. Our primary mission is two-fold: membership retention and member recruitment. We welcome your suggestions and assistance.

For the High Holidays we are asking members if they need a ride or could provide one for High Holiday services. We are also asking congregants to open their homes to fellow congregants for a meal during the High Holidays. Please let us know if you are able to help with either of these activities.

The marketing committee consists of Jonathan Rich, Harry Goldberg, Bruce Kielar, and myself. The temple board has recently approved a new logo for use on our printed materials and the website. We are discussing how and what to publicize about our synagogue. When you tell others about our temple, our religious school, our Rabbi, and our members, you are both acting as an ambassador and helping to market our temple.

Recently, you were asked to complete a survey which 1) helps us as a congregation think about who we are as a community; 2) helps us think about what makes us different from other temples; and 3) lets the community know about our great synagogue. I would like to thank all of you who completed the survey and, if you haven't completed the survey, hope you do. When we have compiled the data, we will publish the results in the bulletin.

It's time to hear from you. You can submit a "letter to the forum" to the Temple (please limit your comments to 200 words or less and we reserve the right to edit for space and clarity).

Respectfully submitted,

Dave Kaufman

Tikkun Olam Update

Hope you are enjoying your summer! The Tikkun Olam project for August is a collection of school supplies for children in the community whose families can not afford to buy them. We are hoping to donate the supplies to #50 School on Seneca St., but we have not confirmed that yet. Supplies can be placed in the box outside of the office from now through 9/12-- the first day of Hebrew school.

Thank you for your generosity!

If you are interested in joining the committee or you have an idea for a project, please contact Shelli Asher (shelli.asher@gmail.com) or Marcy Berger (marcy.berger@gmail.com). We would love your input; we are currently planning projects for the fall and early winter."

The Bikkur Cholim committee is seeking more people to join us in the mitzvah of being a friendly visitor or to make phone calls to homebound people. This is really a very important part of our community keeping connected to one another. Performing this mitzvah will give you great satisfaction and put a smile on your face, to say nothing of how you'll make the other person feel.

Please call or e-mail me and we can talk about what your comfort level is. This is particularly vital NOW, since the High Holidays are approaching.

If you know someone in need of help or in the hospital, please let the office or me know. Sometimes we are unaware of the information. Thanks!

My thanks for your consideration.

AUGUST Green Tip of the Month: Why Shop Local?

"By now, we've all heard the mantra to 'buy local,' but why is local actually better for the planet (and your dinner plate)?

- One tired tomato: The average conventional tomato travels over 1,500 miles to your supermarket shelf.
- Good for the environment and the economy: Only about 7 cents of every retail dollar spent on food goes to the grower. Cut out the middle man and buy your food directly from your local farmer, thus helping our regional and state economy grow along with local produce.

- It tastes better! Farmers' market produce comes directly from the field to your table. Most produce on your grocer's shelves has spent a lot of time traveling, so it is not as fresh."

So, choose local produce available at your grocery store, or do one better, and shop directly from a grower!

The Rochester Public Market is open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. More information is available here: <http://www.cityofrochester.gov/publicmarket/>

Temple Congregant Completes Honor Flight

Sixty years ago they went to war to ensure freedom would be inherited. On Father's Day, the children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren of Rochester-area World War II veterans welcomed home their heroes when the veterans returned from their Honor Flight Rochester trip of June 19 – 20.

Among the veterans who arrived at the Greater Rochester Monroe County International Airport was Temple Beth David congregant Earl Schwartz. Earl served in the US Army from February 1944 until October 1945 as both an aerial gunner and later as a crew chief. His special Honor Flight moment?

Being welcomed home by a young girl, offering him an American Flag.

This was the fourth honor flight trip this year and the 10th since the inception of the Honor Flight Rochester hub in July 2008. "The legacy that the WWII veterans have left is the idea of selfless service to our country," said Kathryn L. Zimmer, Honor Flight Rochester Welcome Home coordinator. "It is something that I keep with me from both of my grandfathers, who were WWII veterans. Our WWII veterans have set the bar high and we need to keep close to our hearts the lesson they have taught us about helping others who need our help without the thought of receiving recognition."

Rochester, New York is one of 90 established 'hubs' in the national Honor Flight Network. They are not-for-profit, and created to honor America's veterans for their sacrifices. They fly our heroes to Washington, DC to visit and reflect together at their memorials.

Honor Flight is free to all WWII veterans and to veterans from any era who suffer a terminal illness. Their goal is to take every veteran who otherwise would not or could not go, and who wants to fly.

Mazel Tov, Bat Mitzvah!

Brooke Weinstein will be attending Dake Middle School as a seventh grader in the fall. She lives in West Irondequoit with her mom, sister Traci and her two dogs named Chess and Sprinkles. Brooke loves to sing, dance, and act on stage. She has been dancing since age 3. Brooke has also performed in various plays including "Once on This Island", "Cinderella", "Thoroughly Modern Millie", and "Into the Woods". In fourth grade, Brooke started playing the violin. When she gets older, Brooke hopes to become a teacher of any kind and travel the world to see some of her favorite places: Italy, Hawaii, China, and Guatemala. Brooke will celebrate her Bat Mitzvah on August 28, 2010; her family is very proud of her.

Brooke and her friend, Laura.
