Placing God and Humanity Before us Always

This month, as we emerge from winter into spring, we complete our reading of the second book of the Torah, in which our common ancestry coalesces as a people and our journey through history is blessed with greater meaning. At the same time, we are witnessing a blossoming within our community.

Members of our community are stepping up - to lead sections of the services on Shabbat morning, to grow into new leadership positions within Temple - and to invigorate the work and special mitzvahs they select to do on behalf of us all. The ruach and blessing that you all bring in your own way, is creating a new vibrancy and a rejuvenation that will endure for generations to come. Todah Rabbah for this gift of chesed shel emet, (the purest form of mitzvah - a mitzvah of true kindness - with no expectation of reward, or, sometimes, even acknowledgement).

Sometimes volunteering can be difficult and cause burn-out. When we face life challenges, whether they present themselves as we serve our community, in our family life, in our jobs (or even some mornings when just trying to get out of bed at the end of a cold, Rochester winter,) there is a poetic verse of psalms can be helpful for us to remind us who we are and what we are trying to become: "shiviti Adonai le'negdi tamid," I place God before me always. When we become mindful of this verse, our challenge then becomes, how do we make the invisible? How do we place God before us always?

Our patriarchs and matriarchs sprang from the ancient Mesopotamian culture - where law codes made it clear, human life in itself wasn't sacred. Everything depended on one's social and economic status. Survival in that culture didn't depend on honesty, but shrewdness - which often meant lying and manipulating. If we look at the world that gave birth to our ancestors and our culture, we don't find a world shining with God's light, let alone the magnificence of Torah.

Nevertheless, our Biblical ancestors found God's light - and they found it shining in a very dark world. We can learn from the stories of their lives by recognizing the many positive attributes they brought to bear to adapt to the circumstances of their lives, such as generosity, hospitality, and chesed (loving kindness), and devotion to God. There are also many, often unknown stories about how these attributes can play out in day-to-day life or difficult situations.

Rabbi Jonathan Sacks tells an extraordinary story of his visit to Kosovo during the war. He interviewed Sir Michael Jackson, head of NATO forces in Pristina, Kosovo, where Serbian Christians had attacked Mosques and now feared reprisals. In the midst of this tense atmosphere, Jackson thanked Rabbi Sacks for what

The mission of Temple Beth David is to provide an environment where the concepts of community prayer, education, and service to the greater Jewish community are provided within the context of Conservative Judaism. We pride ourselves on being a friendly, participatory, egalitarian community, welcoming all to be a part of our synagogue family.

News from the President

Helen Kashtan

hkashtan@frontiernet.net

The Max and Marion Farash Foundation has given the secular and Jewish communities new chances to dream. Temple Beth David has submitted three letters of interest to the Foundation and, if accepted, we will be invited to submit grant applications as a next step. In addition, we have been included as part of one grant submitted by Temple Beth El.

Our letters of interest seek funding to:

- Create a Shabbat (and more) Shuttle service. If this grant becomes reality, the service will provide transportation to members of the Temple Beth David community who are unable to drive to our events and religious services, including those in our building or elsewhere. This is important to our many congregants who are no longer able to drive, or even drive at night. This program will pilot at Beth David and serve as a model for other congregations.

- Launching "Homecooked for the Holidays". If this grant becomes a reality, we would utilize the amazing recipes of our congregants and our commercial kitchen to sell holiday foods that taste homemade. Latkes at Chanukah, tzimmes at Rosh Hashanah, soups for Shabbat, etc. We could consider meals to go at other times of the year. Some kitchen staffing for this might come from programs like Heritage Christian Services, which places its clients in appropriate work environments

- Establish "Meeting You Where You Are." This grant program would provide programming targeted to different age groups and is based on the premise that we need to think outside of the brick and mortar building. With synagogue memberships declining throughout the country, we need to look at ways to connect people to our religious communities outside of the traditional membership model, meeting people where they are most comfortable (location and spiritually).

the Jewish community had done — they had taken charge of the 23 primary schools in the city. Because of the Jewish community, said Jackson, the children were still being educated.

How many Jews were there in Pristina? Eleven. This tiny number, with Israeli help and support, ensured the education of the Moslem children. As we are seeing these past few months in our community, this was an act of hesed shel emet — a true kindness, one which can expect no recompense. Such goodness is in the highest traditions of our people, and these stories should be better known.

This particular story is about Jews who placed God and the well-being of their neighbors before them always. It is also about the power we all have to endure difficult situations, reach across lines and do good in the world. All over the world there are countless unreported acts of generosity and kindness, done by people who understand that God transcends division. It is the enduring legacy of the One who brought all into being.

The stories of our ancestors lives, ancient and modern, teach us that we must look beyond the facts and the difficulties of a given situation (whether it be war or selfless volunteerism). We must see life with a “wide angle lens” - look at the whole of a situation, see the good, and have a heart of compassion...

This way of looking at the world can help us maintain our perspective -- as it teaches us how to place God and humanity before us always -- as we continue to blossom this spring.

B'virkat Shalom

Rabbi Aviva Berg

Green Tip of the Month: Dodge the Draft by Karen Berger

According to the U.S. Department of Energy, drafts can waste 5% to 30% of your energy use. Start simple and adopt that old Great Depression fixture -- the draft snake, which you can easily make yourself. Just place a rolled bath towel under a drafty door, or make a more attractive DIY draft snake with googly eyes, felt tongues and the like. You can use any scraps of fabric -- even neckties -- and fill with sand or kitty litter for heft.

Temple Logo Wins Recognition

Our new logo, designed by Board member Bruce Kielar, was selected to be featured in the 31st Print Regional Design Annual (December 2011 issue of PRINT magazine). There were over 2,500 entries from all over the country and only 421 winners were selected.

According to the PRINT Magazine "Print's Regional Design Annual is the only comprehensive survey of outstanding design throughout the United States."

Bruce has designed amazing graphics and printed pieces for Temple. We are about to begin use of our new donation cards, which he also designed. Our new memorial donation card features a photo taken by Bruce.

Sending the Festival of Lights all over the World

This Hanukkah, Jewish soldiers serving our country around the world celebrated the Festival of Lights with the help of children's cards and care packages from Jewish Community in Rochester. For the fourth year, Temple Beth David has coordinated the community-wide project which collected Hanukkah cards, decorations, baked goods and other items.

Over 500 handmade cards were created by students at the Temple Beth David, B'rith Kodesh, Sinai, Beth El, JCC and the Hillel Community Day School. For the second year students at Derech Ha Torah, Etz Chaim and the Ora Academy joined the project as well. In addition, Temple members and the families of the students baked cookies and cakes for the care packages.

In addition, more than 30 Hanukkah care packages were sent to Rabbi/Chaplains, lay leaders and soldiers in Afghanistan, Kuwait, Qatar, Djibouti (east Africa), Korea, Germany and bases in the U.S. Each package contained: Hanukkah baked goods, dreidles, chocolate gelt, decorations (including cups, plates and napkins), challah, grape juice and dozens of the children's cards. Menorahs and candles were sent to soldiers that requested them. Along with the care packages, more than a 200 Jewish service members received letters containing Hanukkah cards made by the children from Rochester.

The Hanukkah project is the latest in a year round effort by Temple Beth David to serve Jewish soldiers both overseas and in the U.S. In 2011, Temple Beth David has sent care packages for Purim, Pesach and Rosh Hashanah.

If you would like to contribute to the Soldiers Project please send a check made payable to Temple Beth David (place Soldiers Package Project on the memo line) to the Temple at 3200 St. Paul Blvd., Rochester, N.Y 14617. To volunteer, contact Project Coordinator Keith Freedman at kdfreedy@aol.com.

Special thanks must be given to the principals, staff and students of all the schools that contributed to make this project such a continued success.
