Continuing to Blossom in the Summer

The menorah is one of the most enduring symbols of both individual and national Jewish identity. Our Tradition teaches that when the Kohen Gadol (the High Priest) was instructed to light and arrange the flames of the first menorah in the desert Mishkan, he was to "raise up the lights," ("beha'alotechah et hanerot"). Every Friday night when we light the Shabbat candles, we recite the blessing culminating with "le'hadlik ner shel Shabbat" (to kindle ... Shabbat candle(s)). The difference in the verb the Torah uses for lighting the first menorah and the action word for lighting our Shabbat candles prompts a question. Why was the Kohen Gadol instructed to raise up the lights of the menorah instead of to kindle them?

One answer our Tradition gives us is that the High Priest was to light each flame and tend it until each fragile light was able to rise up on its own. Seen in this way, the original menorah became a tree of light, with seven branches of knowledge. Rashi, our eleventh century French commentator, whose Torah commentary we are learning together this year, points out that the wicks of the six outer wells of oil were to be arranged so that they all faced the center wick.

Sages who came after Rashi taught that the six outer lights of the menorah represented six essential areas of knowledge: medicine, physics, mathematics, art, psychology and sociology. Without learning, discovery, and expression in these six areas, human civilization would not advance. But, without the center flame, the light of Divine wisdom, instead of advancing the evolution of humanity and the healing of the world, the other flames might eventually extinguish humanity and destroy the world. We need both, Torah u'mada, Torah and science, Jewish and secular education. We need to know how to raise up and nurture our neshamas as well as tend to our bodies and our physical world.

At Jewish funerals, when we honor the end of the life of the body, we often read Mishlei (Proverbs) 20:27: "The human spirit is a Divine light" implanted within each of us. We all have the potential to tend this spark and fan it into a flame that will light up one's own life and the lives of others.

A lit candle can be snuffed out, or it can burn out, or it can kindle other candles. When the flame is passed on to others, it will continue to burn long after the original candle has been extinguished.

"To light up one's own life and the lives of others" is our purpose on earth. We are to be the center flame of the menorah. Whether we are family members, orphans, special people at commencement ceremonies receiving honorary degrees for extraordinary accomplishments or members of a community, our role is "to light up our own lives and the lives of others."

Memorial Concert a Big Success!

Davida Bloom and Bill Fowlkes, Cochairs of Rabbi Skopitz Memorial Concert

The Fourth Memorial Concert for Rabbi Skopitz was a big success! On Sunday June 10th audience members were thrilled with performances by High Fiddleity and Cadence. You'd never know that this was the first public performance for High Fiddleity, the opening act, they were terrific. High Fiddleity is Eric Levy, Daphne Kanack-Pickens, Casey Murray, Margaret Thurston, and David Steinfeldt. Apparently they have already been approached about performing again by some of the lucky audience members who saw them at the Memorial Concert.

Those of you who attended the Second Memorial Concert may remember Cadence, and they were even better this time! Cadence includes Ross Lynde, Lucas Marchand, Kurt Simpson, and Carl Berger, Rabbi Skopitz's nephew. This world-renown a cappella group was a true delight. Many members of Rabbi Skopitz's family were in attendance, and they expressed sincere gratitude for Temple's efforts to present these Memorial Concerts. Thanks again to all of the volunteers who helped make the concert a success, including: Judy and Carl Levy, Linda Servetnick, Dan Saltzberg, Judy Fleissig, Scott Davis, Jonathan Rich, Maria Dewhirst, Tara Oakes, Davida Bloom, Bill Fowlkes, Steve Papkin, Lee Lande, Marta Bermudez, Sylvia Roth, Gladys Garey, and Dorothy Sherr. Apologies to anyone we may have inadvertently omitted.

News from VP Administration

Judy Levy, VP Admin. jlevy29@rochester.rr.com 585-249-5138

It is with mixed emotions that I write this article. As many of you know by now, our Temple Administrator, Maria Dewhirst, has accepted a new and exciting position. While I am happy for Maria, and wish her nothing but the best in her new job, she will be greatly missed at Temple Beth David. I am sure that my feelings are shared by many of you. Maria has been a dedicated employee and part of the Temple family for the past 6+ years. She has represented stability and kept things going through the many changes we have encountered over the past several years. As I write this, we have already begun the interviewing process and have some wonderful candidates to step up to the job. By the time you read this, we will have someone in place and hope to have as smooth a transition as possible. I personally want to thank Maria for thinking ahead and preparing to make her replacement's job easier. Please remember, that our new employee will not have Maria's working knowledge of the operations of the office or the congregants, so I ask for your patience during this transition.

Rabbi's Desk, con't.

Rabbi Aviva Berg    rabbiavivaberg@gmail.com    585-319-4407

Because of the tremendous opportunity a teacher or educator has to spark another flame, no position is more esteemed in our Tradition. The irony is that a teacher who has to deal with the day-to-day responsibilities of his or her position and home life might not be able to grasp the positive impact that he or she might have on a group of people. None of us can ever truly see the reach of our passions and in what ways we impact the lives of others. And yet we know that the flicker of the menorah that the Kohen Gadol first lit in the Mishkan reappears in our classrooms, own homes, and our hearts generations later.

We illuminate the memory of the struggle for religious freedom whenever we light Hanukkah candles. We celebrate the freedom of not having to work every day when we light Shabbat candles. We honor the hope that generations far into the future will benefit from the efforts and dedication an inspired teacher and we thank all of our teachers who have kindled and patiently watched over the tender flames that were in their charge.

Our evolving Jewish education and experiential learning program at Temple will continue to foster a strong and positive Jewish identity by modeling values and traditions of Jewish life and observance, teaching prayer and rituals, and creating an environment where joy and awe will be nurtured and expressed. To help families feel at home in the synagogue as well as to integrate Judaism in a meaningful way throughout their lives, we will offer meaningful family education programs that will bridge the gap between home, school, and synagogue.

Sparked by past experience and inspired by innovation, we will continue to give our children a positive learning experience. Our goal will be to educate confident, happy, Jewishly literate children who are involved and comfortable in their Jewish world, well after their Bar/Bat Mitzvah year. As we honor our teachers' contributions to Jewish learning at Temple, we also look forward to lighting a new legacy of inspired Jewish learning for our children.

B'virkat Shalom

Temple Beth David's July, 2012 Learning Through Experience

Cultural Learning:

In Tammuz and Av we enter a time of reflection and national mourning

Community and Connection: The Rochester Jewish Film

Festival, Fourth Friday Kabbalat Shabbat and Tisha B'Av
Observance

In July, Tammuz and Av, the Rochester Jewish community will dip deeply into the experience of modern Jewish life at the Rochester Jewish Film Festival, as well as experience a period of reflection and national mourning, culminating on Tisha b'Av.

From July 8th to 16th, Rochester will celebrate the JCC Ames Amzalak Rochester Jewish Film Festival. The diverse films offered this year look to be engaging, thought-provoking, and uplifting. Pick up a brochure on the Shabbat table or download one at www.rjff.org. Organize film-going groups with discussions afterwards. We can all enjoy and enrich our summer with what our wonderful city has to offer, while at the same time supporting our JCC.

Kabbalat Shabbat and Potluck Dinner: We will continue our fourth Friday of the month Kabbalat Shabbat and Veggie/Dairy Buffet at the JCC on July 27th. Last month we initiated bringing the recipe for your delicious Shabbat dinner food offerings. We would like to continue this practice as it both helps us decide what to eat as well as contribute to our collection of recipes for our community cookbook honoring our wonderful chefs.

Tisha B'Av Observance -- Our blended communities will gather at 8:00 pm at Beth Hamedresh - Beth Israel (BHBI) July 28th for Tisha B'Av study and services, including the reading of Megillat Eicha. Sunday morning services on July 29th will be at 9:30 in the Small Sanctuary at Temple.
